- Free cash flow of SEK 2.9 million (0.6).

Events during the quarter

- Launched two new tools: Menti Form and Menti Pulse, letting leaders hear from their people beyond live presentations, through interactive surveys and recurring pulse checks. With the full Engagement suite, leaders get a more complete picture, helping them make better decisions and lead more effectively.
- Continued bringing Menti into our users' everyday workflows: people can now build and edit interactive presentations directly from ChatGPT and Claude, and our AI assistant runs across every Menti product.

Events after the end of the quarter

- On October 7, an Extraordinary General Meeting elected Hanna Andreen to the Board of Directors. She replaces John Hedberg as Creades' representative.

CEO Statement

Continued solid growth as we accelerate towards becoming the infrastructure that makes every leader better.

Dear Shareholders,

A year has passed since we launched our growth strategy: to build a connected, AI-powered engagement suite that helps leaders drive performance at scale. We solve two problems for our customers. First, we get people to engage when attention has never been scarcer. Second, we turn that engagement into insights and recommendations leaders can act on. One year in, we see the strategy gaining traction, alongside areas where we can do better.

Q3 2026 results
In the quarter, net sales grew 6% year-over-year to SEK 160.8 million, and ARR grew 7% to SEK 640.8 million. In constant currency, both net sales and ARR grew 12%, led by strong momentum in Enterprise, up 16%, while Self-Service was up 9%.

EBIT amounted to SEK 3.5 million, corresponding to a margin of 2.2%. This quarter shows that we can invest in growth and be profitable, as we returned to positive EBIT while continuing to invest in sales and product development.

We added 216 net new Enterprise customers in the quarter, bringing the total to 3,305, up 25% year-over-year. Healthy renewals and expansion within our existing customer base further supported Enterprise growth.

Self-Service did not meet our expectations. Revenue grew, driven by strong expansion among paying accounts, but the inflow of new users declined. Monthly active retained users fell 8% year-over-year to just over 469,000 in the quarter.

We are taking firm action to reverse the decline in active users. Most importantly, we are turning our own platform into a stronger acquisition channel by making it easier to sign up directly in the tool, which reduces our reliance on external search.

Accelerating the pace of innovation
The new Mentimeter is taking shape. In the past six months alone, we've shipped more than in the previous several years combined, and every release answers a need our customers brought to us.

In September, we made the biggest launch in Mentimeter's history: Menti Form and Menti Pulse. Leaders can now hear from their people beyond live presentations, through interactive surveys and recurring pulse checks. With the full Engagement suite, leaders get a more complete picture, helping them make better decisions and lead more effectively. Both tools are seeing strong customer traction, with Menti Form already beating our customer satisfaction targets.

Creating a Menti that captures exactly the right data has also never been easier. AI is embedded across the creation process, and our built-in thought leadership guides users at every step, whether they work directly in Menti or through Claude or ChatGPT.

Looking ahead
Those of you who have followed Mentimeter for some time know I have voiced frustration over how long it took to rebuild our tech backbone. That work is now paying off: a customer can suggest a new feature, and within an hour it can be live for all users. Combined with our 14+ years of leadership expertise and proprietary usage data, this puts us in a unique position to achieve our mission to make every leader better. Much work remains, but we have never been better equipped to deliver.
